

ABSTRACT

The invention provides compositions and methods for treating a subject who has suffered from a central nervous system disorder. More particularly, the invention
5 provides sustained polymeric drug delivery systems for direct delivery of therapeutic agents into the central nervous system.

TRA 1856803v1